BRIEF STATEMENT OF MUTUAL HELP HOMEOWNERSHIP PROGRAM

In October 1996 Congress passed a law entitled the Native American Housing Assistance and Self-Determination Act (NAHASDA) of 1996. NAHASDA programs fall under the vast umbrella of programs and funding provided through Housing and Urban Development (HUD). Under NAHASDA Kodiak Island Housing Authority (KIHA), an Indian Housing Authority, is required to give preference in its HUD-funded programs to Native American families. Non-Native American families are allowed to participate; however Native American families are given preference.

The Mutual Help Homeownership Program is a “deferred purchase” program designed to help low-income families achieve home ownership in 25 years or less. HUD annually sets its low-income guidelines. KIHA manages many Mutual Help units in the villages around the Kodiak archipelago. House sizes vary from a 2-bedroom to a 5-bedroom home, and also vary in age and design. Some locations require a $1,500 deposit. The monthly payment is calculated based on a formula that takes into account the household income and a utility allowance, together with deductions for number of dependents, medical costs, etc. The Mutual Help program requires a minimum payment to help cover KIHA’s expense of managing the program. This minimum payment is called the Administration Fee. The homebuyer is required to pay all utilities and to perform all maintenance, repairs and upkeep to the home.

Application process: We will conduct a preliminary evaluation of your completed application. KIHA will notify you in writing of preliminary acceptance or denial of your application. If accepted, your name will be placed on a Wait list based on the date and time your application was received together with any allowable preference points in accordance with our policy. Preliminary acceptance of your application only establishes a placement on our Wait list, and does not guarantee that we will offer a Mutual Help home to you.

Don’t Commit Fraud! If your application contains false or incomplete information you may be evicted, required to repay all overpaid assistance, fined up to $10,000, imprisoned for up to 5 years, and/or prohibited from receiving future assistance. State and local governments may have other laws and penalties as well.

Wait List: We maintain wait lists of applicants based on number of bedrooms. Mutual Help homes are offered as they become available. The Wait list is updated periodically. Failure to respond to a request for updated information may cause your name to be dropped from the Wait list.

Qualified Applicant:

- Must demonstrate adequate income to afford the expense of the minimum monthly payment, the utilities and upkeep to the home.
- You must have satisfactory rental or mortgage loan references with us or with others. If you have not rented or owned a home before, you must provide other references that can verify your credit worthiness.
- Current probation status or a criminal history may cause your application to be denied. Failure to disclose such information will cause your application to be denied.
- Disclosure -- If you fail to fully disclose requested information including information regarding your income and assets, or if you deliberately misrepresent your situation, your application will be denied.

Admission criteria: KIHA will notify you either verbally or in writing when a Mutual Help home is expected to be available. We will require a face-to-face meeting, payment of any required deposits & the first month’s prorated payment prior to or at the time of move-in. You will also be required to show proof of establishment of the electricity and fuel account connection with your village provider.

Occupancy Requirement: Your Mutual Help home must become and must remain your primary residence. We may restrict the number of people who may reside in the home. In determining these restrictions, we adhere to all applicable Fair Housing Laws. Exceptions to occupancy guidelines may be permitted in certain circumstances.

Purchase Price: The Purchase Price of your home will be calculated by KIHA based on a Marshall Swift Program calculation that takes into consideration the age, size, features and current condition of the home and factors in a cost for replacement. The Purchase Price is not calculated on market value, or what the home might sell for in today's market. The Mutual Help program is a "deferred purchase" program. The ultimate goal is to help you own your home in 25 years or less. The Purchase Price becomes your starting Principal Balance. There is no interest charge associated with the Mutual Help account; however KIHA is required to establish a minimum charge, called an Administration Fee, to help cover the costs associated with managing the program.

Condition of home: Mutual Help homes are not in new condition. Many parts or features of the home may have been refurbished prior to your move-in. Your home will be un-furnished. A refrigerator, a cooking range/oven, and window screens are provided. Many but not all homes have a woodstove or a Toyo stove as an additional source for heat.

Monthly Payments: The Mutual Help program is structured to require a monthly payment from you. The minimum payment is calculated based on 15% of the adjusted annual household income less an allowance for utilities, dependents, and certain other expenses. The minimum payment will be KIHA's Administration Fee. The Administration Fee can change from time to time. If your income is seasonal in nature you will need to demonstrate the ability to budget appropriately so that your account remains in good standing. Payments are due every month on the 1st day of each month. A late fee will be charged if the payment is not made by the 15th of the month.

Annual Recertification of Family Income and Composition: The Mutual Help program requires that we conduct at least an annual review of your household composition and income. KIHA will notify you by mail when this process is due and will provide a form. You will be required to provide detail regarding the annual income and assets of all household members. Failure to comply with this process will result in termination from the program.

Conveyance Schedule: The Mutual Help program is structured so that you can expect to own your home free and clear in 25 years (300 months) or less, provided that you maintain good standing on your account and comply with all program requirements. The process of transferring title, or ownership, is called Conveyance. When you receive title, your participation in the Mutual Help program is ended. You then own the home and the land free and clear and can do with it what you like.

Your principal balance is reduced each month by an amortized amount equal to 1/300 of the original Purchase Price. The amortized amount is different than your monthly payment. You can pay your home off early by paying more than the required minimum monthly payment. There is no penalty to pay extra or early. All payment amounts that you pay over the required minimum Administration Fee or other charges will be credited to an Equity account. If you move out before you have paid off the home, your Equity account balance and prepaid deposit will be refunded to you after deduction of any move-out charges for repairs.

Q & A REGARDING THE MUTUAL HELP PROGRAM

Who is KIHA?

Kodiak Island Housing Authority, or KIHA, was originally formed under Kodiak Area Native Association, or KANA, as a Housing Authority. A Housing Authority is an organization created by State Legislation, run by a Board of Commissioners who is appointed by a non-profit corporation in the area. The Kodiak Area Native Association appoints the KIHA Board of Commissioners.

What is the Mutual Help Homeownership Program?

- Funded by KIHA through use of Housing & Urban Development, or HUD, Indian Housing Block Grant funds
- Rent-to-Own homeownership program for families of low income
- HUD funding requires preference be given to Native American families

Who can qualify to enter the Mutual Help Program?

- Homebuyers are Native American, or if non Native American, are deemed essential to the well-being of the village and whose housing needs cannot otherwise be adequately served.
- The Native American homebuyer must be considered low income at time of application and admittance to program. A small portion of Native American applicants under the Mutual Help program can have income that ranges between low Income and the Median income as determined by HUD
- Homebuyer must be willing to accept full responsibility for all utility costs and maintenance and agree to maintain the home in good condition
- Homebuyer must agree to occupy the home as their primary residence

How is the purchase price determined?

- KIHA establishes the contract or purchase price by using a Marshall Swift calculation that estimates the cost to rebuild the home based on its present features and condition. Marshall Swift calculation is not a determination of market value or a market analysis

How are Mutual Help account payments determined?

- Mutual Help payments are generally based on 15% of the gross income, less certain allowances, and subject to a minimum Administrative payment as determined by KIHA. Currently the minimum Administration Fee is $200.
- Payments are due on the first of each month. A late fee is assessed on the 16th of each month
- An annual Recertification and periodic Inspections are conducted to review the household composition and income and to determine if the Homebuyer is properly maintaining the home

Other features and conditions of the Mutual Help Program:

- Homebuyer agrees to sign a Mutual Help and Occupancy Agreement, which is a 25-year (300 month) contract. If homebuyer fulfills the Agreement, ownership of the home and land are transferred or conveyed to the homebuyer at the end of the 25 years provided the account is paid in full, or when the homebuyer has paid off the account if paid off prior to 25 years.
- Homebuyer can sell the home at any time prior to payoff of the Mutual Help account but must have prior approval of the sale from KIHA. If KIHA agrees to the sale, the Mutual Help account must be paid in full as part of the process of the sale. Until the account is paid in full KIHA retains legal ownership of the home and must consent to the sale.
- Periodically KIHA receives funds for Modernization work on its housing stock. A Mutual Help homebuyer in good standing may be eligible for such work to be performed on their home at no cost to the homebuyer. Modernization work has at times included new roof, new siding, new windows, etc.; scope of work varies from project to project and year to year.
- Mutual Help Occupancy Agreement can be terminated if the homebuyer fails to meet the obligations of the Agreement.
- If homebuyer's monthly payment is greater than the minimum Administration Fee (minimum payment), the difference is credited to a Monthly Equity Payment Account, or MEPA. Additionally, each month that the homebuyer maintains the Mutual Help and Occupancy Agreement the account balance is reduced by 1/300 of the original principal account balance. If the homebuyer decides to relinquish their home rather than pay off the Mutual Help account their equity is returned to the homebuyer, less any expenses to bring the home to a condition suitable for the next homebuyer.
